ADMINISTRATIVE MAP OF NORTH VIETNAM

A map entitled Administrative Map of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam, at the scale of 1:1,000,000, was published by the U.S. Army, Pacific Command in June 1964. This map, which shows the situation as of January 1964, is considered to be the latest and most detailed administrative map of North Vietnam available. It was issued as SIRA Map No. 540 and appeared in a publication, Administrative Divisions of Democratic Republic of Vietnam, which includes detailed administrative information as well as a 3,400 name index of administrative areas and populated places.

The map delimits and names provinces, districts, and autonomous zones, and locates selected administrative centers. An inset map at enlarged scale covers the Hanoi-Haiphong area. An index to cities and districts is also provided as an inset.

Reproductions of the map, at reduced scale, may be obtained by requesting CIA Map 9872 from the main Reference Branch of the CIA Map Library, [REDACTED] (code 143, ext 2688) or from the Map Library Reference Facility in Room G-H-19 of the CIA Headquarters Building (ext. 6563). The map is FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY.

CIA has prepared a page-size version of this map, in color, which will be issued as CIA Map 39512 in mid-August.
